Opticians test your eyes

They are also called optometrists.

We will call them opticians in this factsheet.

Having your eyes tested is very important

An eye test can find out if your eyes are healthy. An eye test also checks for illnesses like diabetes.

An eye test can check that your sight is okay and whether you need new glasses.

One in three people with a learning disability has a sight problem

Wearing the right glasses can help sight problems.

We need good sight to help us to communicate, to be independent and to enjoy work and activities.

You can choose to have an eye test at any optician

You can take a supporter with you for your eye test.

If you need glasses you can buy these at any optician.

There are opticians who can visit you at home. Ask at your doctors surgery about these.

You can fill in our form and take it to the optician

The form is called 'Telling the Optometrist About Me'. Go to www.lookupinfo.org then click on the 'Forms and Booklets' button.

You can fill in the form with a supporter.

It will help the optician make sure your eye test goes well.

What happens when you go for an eye test?

The optician will talk with you about your eyes and your eye sight.

Your supporter can be there to help you answer the questions.

The optician will look at your eyes to see if they are healthy.

The optician will need to get close to you to do this.

The optician will use a light to look at your eyes.

For some parts of the eye test the room will be quite dark.

The optician may ask you to follow their hand with your eyes.

This helps them check how your eyes move when you look at things.

The optician will ask you to look at objects, pictures or letters.

You don't need to be able to read to have an eye test.

You can use words, signing or gestures to say what you see.

Your supporter can help you to say what you see.

Maybe you can't say or sign what the objects, pictures or letters are.

The optician can still test your eyes by watching how you look at things with your eyes.

The optician will put a 'test frame' on your face.

They will put different lenses in the test frame to check which lenses help you see things clearly.

Lenses will help you see things more clearly.

If you can't wear test frames the optician can hold the lenses for you to look through.

During the eye test the optician may use some machines and equipment.

These machines help the optician check your eyes and test how well you can see.

The optician may ask to put drops in your eyes. It may feel strange

The drops help the optician to see inside your eyes and do tests.

Some machines blow a puff of air onto your eye or touch your eye gently.

This helps test for an serious eye illness called glaucoma.

It does feel strange but we all need this test done.

After your eye test the optician will tell you about your eye sight and whether you need new glasses.

They will give you a piece of paper called a prescription.
